Stylist description

I'm a London based make-up artist, working in the fashion and beauty industry and travelling across Europe for shoots and shows.

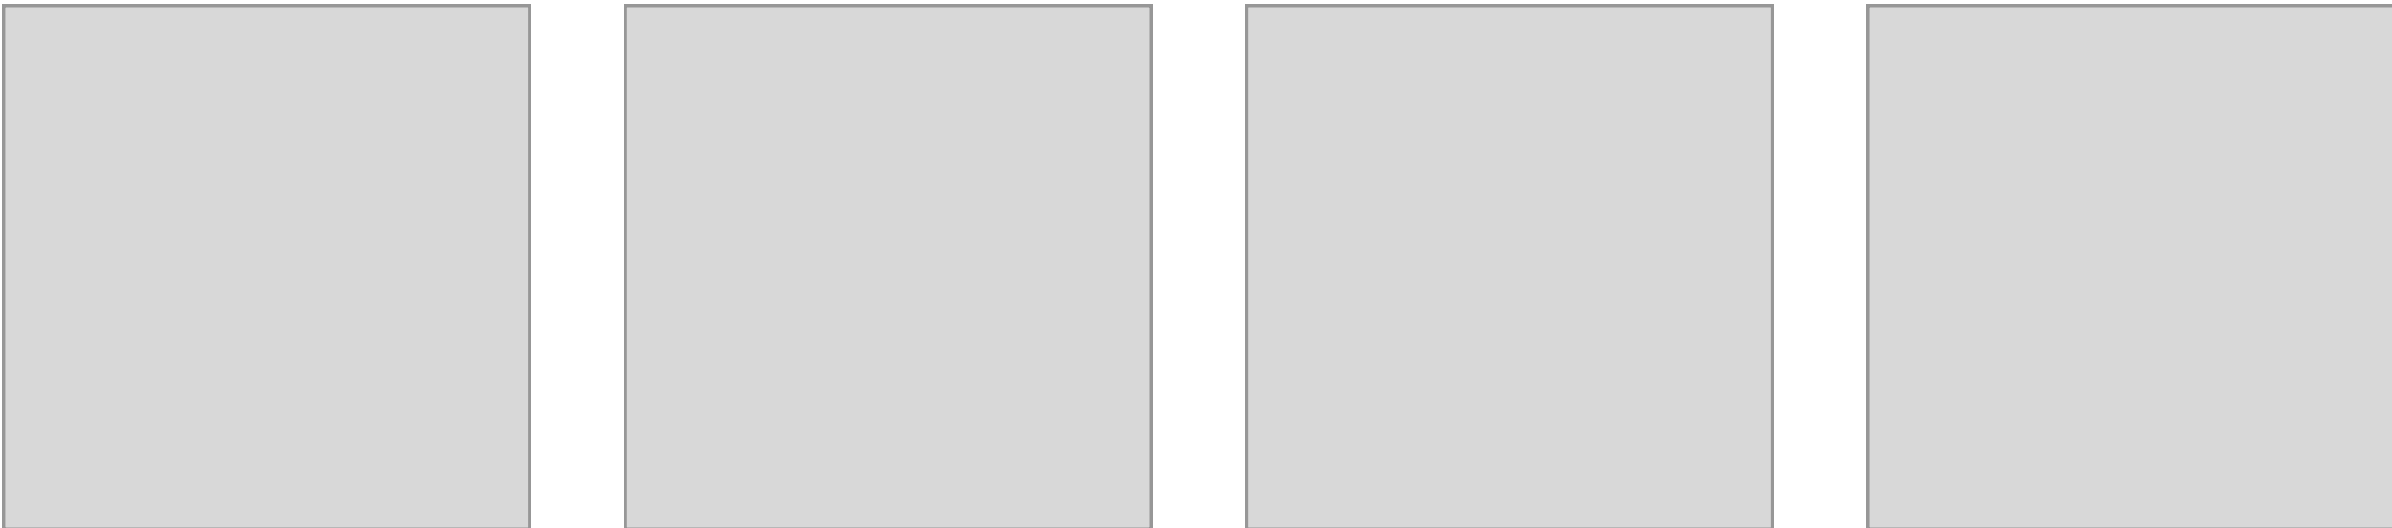

The first thing I do when I'm starting someone's makeup, even before I pick up a product or a brush, is define their face shape. This allows me to really bring out and highlight their best features. This is just the same as picking out which sunglasses best suit your face, as the right sunglasses can really compliment your face shape.

Pick your hair colour, skin tone and face shape below to see which sunglasses will work best for you.
